In your words

1

Read and answer the questions. Then ask and answer the questions with a partner.

A: If you could go on vacation anywhere in the world, where would you go?

B: If I could go on vacation anywhere in the world, I'd like to go to ...

If you could ...

- go on vacation anywhere in the world, where would you go?
- be any nationality, which nationality would you choose to be?
- have any car in the world, which car would you like to have?
 - be a famous movie star, who would you like to be?
- meet any person from the past, who would you like to meet?
 - be any animal, what animal would you be?

2 Make questions using the second conditional and interview your classmates.
Ask questions for more information and write notes.

A: If you were president of your country, what would you do?

B: I would give everyone more holidays.

A: Why's that?

- 1 If / be / president of your country / what / do?
- 2 If / your home / be on fire / what / save first?
- 3 If / find / a gold ring / what / do?
- 4 If / go / on a long trip / what / take with you?
- 5 If / can have / any job in the world / what / choose?
- 6 If / a classmate / ask you for money / what / say?

Challenge!

Imagine you could do anything you wanted for one day.
What would you do? Tell your partner.

If I could do anything I wanted for a day, first I'd go to ...

3 Tell your partner your results.

If Akiko was president of her country, she would give everyone more holidays.

4 Think of three possessions you would really like to have and give your reasons.
Then tell your partner.

I wish I had a new computer. If I had a new computer, I'd be able to download movies more quickly.
