Unit 11 – Student A

1

Look at this picture. How does the man feel? What could have happened? Tell your partner your guesses. Here are some ideas to help you start.

lost / wallet

fail / exam

lose / job

wake up / late

hurt / leg

have / problem

He could have lost his wallet, I guess.

2

Look at this picture. Your partner will try to guess what happened. Listen to your partner's ideas and give clues, but do not show the picture until your partner guesses exactly what happened.

B: She could have met a millionaire, I guess?

A: No, that's not it. She hasn't met anyone.

With a partner, look at this picture of Hannah's room and make deductions about her life and personality. How many deductions can you make?

She must enjoy traveling because she's been to several countries. She might have been to the U.S. because there's a small Statue of Liberty on the table.

Challenge!

Ask your partner to put some of his or her personal items on the table. What do they tell you about your partner's life and personality?

There's a train ticket, so you must have come here by train.

Listening

1

95 Listen to Anna from Australia talk about a strange experience. Who exactly was Jason?

2 95 Listen again. Answer the questions.

- 1 What was the special event Anna was planning?
- 2 Why did she ask some of Sharon's friends to come over in the afternoon?
- 3 Who did she think Jason was?
- 4 What did Jason help to make?
- 5 After he left, what did they notice was missing?
- 6 What was the "surprise" for Sharon when she came home?

Speaking

- 1 With a partner, think of as many possible explanations as you can for each situation.

- 1 A woman is reading and then starts to laugh.
She might be reading a funny story.
- 2 Two children are playing with a ball when one of them starts to cry.
- 3 A student is sleeping in class.
- 4 Jon usually gets home from work at 7:00 p.m., but it's 8:00 p.m.
and he still hasn't arrived home.
- 5 A man runs to his car and drives away quickly.
- 6 A police officer goes into a bar and starts talking to the owner.
- 7 Someone is talking on the phone and then suddenly hangs up.

- 2 Think of a different situation and decide on the explanation. Make a group and tell your classmates the situation. Can they guess the correct explanation?

In your group, try to solve this puzzle. When you have decided on your answer, turn to p.100 for the solution!

It is the middle of the summer. In an apartment Maisie and Gerry are lying on the floor in the kitchen, near a table. They are both dead. There is some broken glass nearby, but there isn't any blood. Loud music is coming from next door. How did Maisie and Gerry die?
