Listening

Skill tip

Listening for information 'behind' the words you hear is a useful way to identify context. For example, if you hear I study, my course, campus and class, the speaker could be a student.

1

83 Listen to three students talk about their new part-time jobs. Match each person with a job.

a convenience store clerk
a pizza delivery driver
a private tutor

Beth is Hyun-Jin is

Daisy is

1

Before you watch, think about the qualities a waiter should have.
Choose the most important two adjectives from the list.

sociable	confident	punctual
easygoing	sensitive	optimistic

2

Watch the video. Which two adjectives from the list do you think best describe Nick?

Watch again. Write T (true), F (false), or N (not in text) for each statement.

- 1 Nick's last job was washing dishes in a restaurant.
- 2 He thinks his current job is not as good as his last one.
- 3 He talks with fewer people now than in his old job.
- 4 He gets paid more now than he did before.
- 5 He is happier now than he used to be.
- 6 He doesn't have as far to travel to get to work.

4

Make a list of part-time jobs students often take. Compare them with a partner. Which do you think is the best?
