Grammar:

✓ There are different ways of asking for something. We usually ask for something in a polite and indirect way; for example, using can, could or would you mind.

MAKING REQUESTS: You ask someone to do something for you.

	Agreeing	Refusing
Would you mind collecting my suit from the laundry, please?	No, not at all./ Of course not.	I´m sorry, but I´m really busy.
Could you call a taxi for me?	Yes, of course./ No problem. I´ll call it.	I'm really sorry. I can't at the moment.
Can you call me later?	Sure. No problem.	I´m afraid I will be busy in the afternoon.

ASKING FOR PERMISSION: You check if you are permitted to do something.

	Giving Permission	Refusing permission
Do you mind if I invite some friends for dinner?	No, not at all. Go ahead./ Of course not.	I´d rather you didn´t. (I'd = I would)
Is it OK if I close the window?	Sure, do it. / Sure. No problem.	Sorry, but I´m hot.

EXTRA INFORMATION ☺	Agreeing	Refusing
Would you mind if I borrowed your pen, please?	No, not at all./ No, go ahead. / Of course not. Here you are.	I´m sorry. I´m using it.
Could I ask you the time, please?	No, problem. It´s a quarter past four.	I´m sorry but my watch is broken.
Can I have the salt?	OK. Here you are.	I´m afraid it´s bad for you .

READ the forum entries and complete with T (TRUE) or F (FALSE).

Ashley	I think I'm rather polite. When someone asks me a favor, I usually do it, even when I´m busy. My sister asked me to go shopping with her, because she´s going to a big party, and I went with her. But when my noisy neighbor asked me "Why are you talking so loud on the phone?" He wasn´t polite. So, I said, "It´s my phone and I can talk as loud as I want to".
Liam	I don´t like being rude or unfriendly. When someone asks me to do something, I almost always try to do it. Last week I was on a train, and an old lady said: "Would you mind closing the window?", and I did it, but it was so hot! Finally, I had to sit somewhere else. I just don´t like saying no.
Carmen	My friends say I´m rude but I don´t think so. I just say "no" when I want to say no. For example, Stella, a girl from my group, asked me to go to the cinema with her, but I said: "Sorry, I have other plans". Is that rude? I don´t think so. Being polite is fine, but being assertive is also important.
1. __F__	Ashley does what people ask her to do when she is not busy.
2. __T__	Liam likes being polite and friendly.
3. __F__	Liam was really cold on the train.
4. __T__	Carmen´s friends think she is rude.
5. __F__	Stella asked Carmen to go to the cinema with people from their group.

Thank you
